

Mary Selk taught vocal music classes from 1949-1980 before retiring in 1980. Ms. Selk was an adjudicator for music contests and initiated a music theory class which was put into the curriculum. The 1959 Bloomington High School dedicated their yearbook to Ms. Selk and reads, "Miss Selk has become known for her dry sense of humor, the merry twinkle in her eye, and her tireless devotion to her chosen profession. In recognition of her never-ending effort and service, we dedicate the 1959 Aepix to Miss Mary Selk."
