

Meg graduated in 1977 and has over 30 years in the Consumer Packaged Goods Industry. Meg is known for her outstanding communication skills, ability to build highly effective work teams, and passion for operational excellence. Upon her return from a mission trip to Uganda, she was selected to co-lead General Mills' "Join My Village" which works to fight poverty and empower women and girls in Malawi and was awarded the Champions Award for her leadership in this campaign. "As a widow with two young children, my healing process started when I made the decision to help others."