

Phonics

Phonics is the student's connection between seeing a letter and knowing its sound. Then, a student should eventually be able to put together multiple sounds to produce words.

Not all words follow phonetic rules.

Here are some cues to help children use alternate reading strategies.

1. Look at the picture
2. Look at the first letter of the word
3. Skip the word, read on, go back
4. Think about the story
5. Try the word and listen to see if it makes sense
6. Looks for chunks of the word that you know
