Current Event from www.pantagraph.com

Some people call Halloween the day of sweets. That's the day the sweet treats start to come in. First the Halloween candy, and then the Thanksgiving turkey. After that, Christmas cookies, New Year's drinks, Valentines Day treats and finally, the chocolate eggs from Easter.

People all over the United States save the leftovers of the last holiday instead of focusing on healthy foods before the next holiday. Some people already have developed diseases like high blood pressure, heart diseases and strokes. Plus, that makes it really hard to get through the day with less energy, because some people don't eat healthy food.

A better way is eating healthy foods after a holiday and not eating the leftovers until the next holiday. The point is not to wait until the next holiday for healthy food. Don't put your mind on the leftovers!

Classroom Poll By Elijah

I collected data from my classmates. People liked Christmas the most out of the following: Halloween, 4th of July and Valentine's Day. There were 17 people that liked Christmas the most, 1 person liked the 4th of July and 0 people liked Valentine's Day the most. Christmas must be popular!

School News

By Amber Bring your collage and book report to school on Monday, November 16. It is also close to Thanksgiving, YUM!!! In Friday math we have been playing Tiles a lot and it is fun.

Weekly Weather

Book Report By Kushi

In Language Arts, there is a book report that is due. It is due November 16th (next Monday). For your book report, you should be doing a collage. The collage should be about the book that you are reading or already read. You can get pictures from the internet, magazines, or the news paper. You can draw some pictures or get them from many other resources. Remember there should be something on your collage that isn't paper. There should also be two sentences about each picture on a different piece of paper. Finish your book because the due date is pretty close!!

Social Studies Class

By Anthony In social studies we all got a my Tour Of the Regions Of The United States book. There are lots of things in there like the words to our Fifty Nifty song. Mrs. Buob is the social studies teacher and she is the best teacher in the world. I never had a teacher like her. When I'm in 7th grade, I want her as a social studies teacher.

Math Magic By Danaria

Magic Math is all about fun and calculators. Today we are switching students and playing a game of tiles. Math is all about learning properties and words that have to do with math. Math is such a cool subject. You can learn so much.

Science Explosion By Sadie

In Science we are going into Chapter 14. WE are going to learn some new words like frequency, opaque, pitch and many more words. One of the questions for this chapter is, "How does sound and light travel?" Do you know the answer yet?

Art Report By Kaileil

In art we were throwing clay on the ground. When it splats on the ground, it looks like someone falling from the sky. When it hits in ground, it's like a huge building that falls. When Mrs. E. got the clay out, I was the first to get it. I had 8 blocks of clay. Our art teacher, Mrs. E. was the one that helped us get the clay and it was fun working with it. Art is fun.

The P.E. Battle By Amber

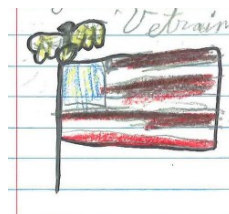

In PE when we are playing football, we do boys vs. boys and girls vs. girls. The next time we go outside fore PE we will do jump rope activities. The next time we are inside for PE we will be playing floor hockey.

Sweet Music By BreAnne

In music class we are singing a candy song. Four people say a candy name and then we sing the song again. Music is fun!!

Library By Emilio Last week we did a slide show. We changed the color of the background. We also added sound and the speed of the words. They took a picture of us and then we put it in the slideshow with our writing.

Celebrations by Morgan

November 4th was my 10th birthday. The United States

Marine Corps birthday was November 10th. My dad was a Marine and he was singing Marine songs. Veterans Day was November 11th. Veterans Day is a day to remember those who fought in the wars.

Cool School News

By Braxton

Read! Read! Read! There will be a Scholastic Book Fair on the 19th and 20th of November and that is on a Thursday and Friday. The P.T.O. might be helping out with this. I think it will be in the Library. I think they will have books that have facts, historical fiction, and non-fiction.

So, if you like to read about those books, come to this book fair!

Lunch/ Recess

Rap By Keyunte

In recess, me and the guys are playing football. It is really fun. The last game we played, we won because I got an interception. We ended up winning by like, 16 to 0. All was fun until we had to line up.

Fashion News By Shreya

Fashion is nothing but style of jewelry, footwear, and clothing accepted by many people. Fashion varies by location, age and weather. In the U.S., girls of my age in summer wear short sleeves, skirts, sometimes short jeans, and flip flops or sandals. In the winter, they wear full sleeves, shirts, jeans, snow boots, and coats.

Joke, Poetry Recipe Corner

M~M~ Good! By Sadie & Danaria

This is a fun snack to make when some of your friends come over. Put the ingredients in so it looks like dirt with worms in it.

Here's what you need.

1 blender, 2 scoops of vanilla ice-cream, 2 gummy worms, 1 Tablespoon of chocolate syrup, 2 chocolate crème cookies crushed (like Oreos), 2 strawberries.

Here's How to Make It

1. Put the ice-cream in a blender with the gummy worms and syrup and blend it.
2. Add the chocolate cookies, sliced strawberries and milk. Blend some more.
3. After the ice-cream is blended, pour it into a glass. Then Wahlah! You have a cup full of dirt with some worms!!

Traveling to Iraq By Sadie Current event from abc.com

Tourists are going back to Iraq for many reasons. One of the reasons is because of the historical tours that could provide. Another reason is because Iraq is beautiful. There can be many difficulties when going to Iraq. You may have troubles traveling to Iraq. Also, your driver might drive through a place where you asked him not to go.

New York City By Veli

Last school year, I went to New York City. We went to Times Square, Ellis Island, the Statue of Liberty and more. We even rode in a limo! New York also has a military training base called West Point and we saw a lot of old army men!

Traveling to St. Louis

By Andy A couple of months ago I went to Busch Stadium in St. Louis to watch a Cardinals game. It was fun to go to St. Louis, but the Cardinals lost to the Braves. I also went to the St. Louis Zoo several times, and I love it! Also in St. Louis there is the Arch. At first, when we got to the top of the Arch, I felt really weird because I thought it would tip over. Finally, I want to tell about Six Flags. Six Flags was really, really, fun. I love all the roller coasters and other rides. Have you ever been to any of these places in St. Louis? Oh, I almost forgot to tell you that at the end of the baseball game, I got to run the bases. St Louis is a very fun place.

My House By Donavan

My rabbit is white.
My couch is brown.
My room is messy.
The living room is clean

Myranda

By Miranda

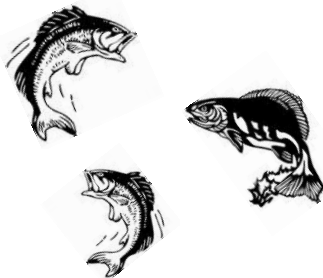

Once there was a panda,
Who's name was Myranda.
She liked to eat throw-up
Mixed with syrup.
One day she bought a cat,
Who liked to wear a hat.
The cat liked to play baseball,
And one day she tore down the mall.
Myranda read a book,
And one day she decided to cook. . .

Bears Player Thrown out of Game By Kyle

Tommie Harris was ejected from Sunday's game for punching Deuce Lutui. The instant replay showed Harris punching Lutui near the face. The team received a penalty and the referee kicked out Harris for the rest of the game.

Home News By Carmen

I'm back at school. We were living in a another person's basement until it flooded! Now we are living in her two extra rooms. She has four dogs and their names are Jaeda, Balto, Toby and Simba.

Community News & Compliments

Compliments to Mrs. Losher (Sadie's Mom), Mrs. Robinson (Kyle's Mom) and Mrs. Jones (Kyle's Grandma) for helping us get our classroom library up and running with library cards and Lexile labels. It will be so much easier to check out classroom books when this is done. Thank you!!

Compliments to Morgan and her parents for bringing yummy birthday treats to school!

Student Reviews

Super Mario World By Alexi

Mama Mia! I'm lost again! This game takes a lot of patience and concentration. You can choose between two characters, Mario or Luigi. The name of the game is Super Mario World. It's for any age. If you win, you go somewhere else. You get to ride on Yoshi after you get him. The point is you have to save Princess Peach after you win every stage. So, if you like Mario and Luigi, "get it now!"

Reading Rocks! By Ebony In class we are reading a cool book called, "The Enormous Egg." This book is about people that wonder what is going to hatch out of their egg. Some people think that it will be a chicken, a dinosaur, a lizard, or an alligator, but a dinosaur hatched out of the egg. The dinosaur is as big as an elephant. What will happen to the dinosaur? You will have to read the book to find out.
